Anyway Hackman Thompson has proved to be an artist in language that is unprintable.

Promoter Wood's report shows tangible facts which a few years ago were referred to as a wild dream.

As everyone for or against has made up his mind on the Robinson affair,

there is really very little more to be said.

The Builders' and Traders' Exchange has accomplished so much of worth to the community, it should remain as something more active than a name.

Immigration officials want to hear from more plantations. If all the plantation authorities were fully awake to the great opportunities of the present situation, it would be a case of the plantations wanting to hear from the immigration officials.

The necessity of a statistical department is always in evidence when information covering a long period is wanted in a hurry.

The Territorial departments are making a splendid showing in making up this department deficiency on short notice.

Since the Chinese minister has decided there will be no favorable Chinese legislation at this session of the United States Congress, the few in Hawaii

still hanging on to that impossibility, better let go and join the workers for American line development.

David Starr Jordan's remarks on the Stanford case that appeared in the Bulletin cable dispatches resulted in several columns of statements from various sources that Mrs. Stanford died from natural causes. Also a later assertion from Dr. Jordan that much of what he was quoted as saying was an inexpressible falsehood. Jordan's remarks on what Sheriff Henry said in the Bulletin have not been heard.

Jordan's solution is the only new thing

Jordan's latest statements have inspired.

THE JUVENILE OFFENDERS

The plurality of Portuguese youth found among the delinquents brought before the juvenile court bears the suggestion that the younger Portuguese in some instances are not living up to the splendid record made by their parents.

One of the characteristics of Portuguese immigration from early times to the present is the very low percentage of Portuguese adults figuring in the police statistics of the Territory. Portuguese have with reason pointed to this record with great pride. It has confirmed the wide spread respect in which this element has been held by all classes.

Now we find the Portuguese-Americans have in the latest report led the list of juvenile offenders.

The Bulletin sees danger in this record only as it is treated with indifference. It does not mean that the law-abiding spirit of the Portuguese-American has become seriously impaired. It does mean that youngsters are going astray who should be looked after. Not only by the citizens of Portuguese blood, though they have a special interest, but the community as a whole.

These youths are Americans. They are of Portuguese lineage but American citizens—factors in the development of our commonwealth.

Portuguese as a people can never be accused of race suicide. And when the Portuguese juvenile total is taken into consideration, twenty-four delinquents for the year is really a very small proportion of the population. At the same time the ratio seems to have increased.

This should arouse the people to thought and action on how it can be reduced, rather than to making excuses for the situation. If there are twenty-four this year, effort should be centered toward making it at least not more than twelve next.

The community responsibility is in maintaining a standard of morality that shall protect not only the Portuguese but all youth, from vice. In this connection every honest effort toward the suppression of gambling is in line. The splendid work of the boys' clubs, the opening of public play grounds, beautifying the city, establishing a public beach, all lead toward the end of giving the youth something to do besides going to the bad.

A worker among the people of the East Side in New York City has said that music is the best cure for graft. He explains it by saying that in his work he has found that if he can get the boys of the street to take an interest in songs and music generally, they will forget their harsh tricks and tough ways that are too often premonitory symptoms of a tough life and criminal career.

This is another way of putting the fact that the wayward youth can be saved if surrounded by better influences and kept interested in a line of existence which at least does not tend to degrade.

The juvenile court in itself is one of the powers that will assist in keeping the boys from downward paths. It gives them an opportunity to recover. But after all it is the community standard that will establish the averages when the reckoning period comes, and the returns from this juvenile court are of greater import than the ordinary police record which tells how many, old enough to know better, have fallen by the wayside, or having fallen, decided to stay there.

PEACOCK VS. GARVIE CASE HEARING IS BEGUN

The hearing of the quo warranto case of W. C. Peacock vs. Alexander Garvie began before Judge Lindsay this forenoon. The entire forenoon was taken up with the examination by W. C. Ashford, Peacock's attorney, of W. C. Weicht, the secretary of W. C. Peacock & Co., Ltd. The examination was based on the calling of the adjourned meeting of the company held on September 15, 1905, at which Garvie and the other officers to whose appointment Peacock objects, were elected.

First of all the minutes of the annual meeting were offered in evidence, and also the minutes of the annual meeting showing that it had been adjourned on motion by A. W. T. Bottomley because certain annual reports were not ready.

Weicht said that after he had called the adjourned meeting, after having discussed the matter with Bottomley and Rothwell, he did not think that the reports referred to had as yet been completed, but the meeting was necessary because conditions demanded that officers be elected.

A letter was produced from Peacock to Rothwell stating that no meeting could be called except by himself as president of the company, and he had no intention of calling a meeting. Weicht said that it had always been the custom to have meetings called by the president, or in his absence by the vice president, but in this case he had called it himself, as it was merely an adjourned meeting, and the election of officers was necessary. It was for that purpose that he had called the meeting.

The U. S. auxiliary Saturn, Captain Newell, will arrive tomorrow from Midway Island. She will bring a number of officers and marines, probably a cable company employee, and mail from the lonely island people.

Yacht Club May Go To Beach Park

The County park at Waikiki, on the premises fronting on the beach for the purchase of which the Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon appropriated $18,000, is being much talked of and members of the Board and the public generally are intensely interested in making the place the greatest attraction in the County.

A scheme, in this connection, now being talked of among members of the Hawaii Yacht Club, is one calculated to add to the popularity of the resort. George Thielen, the broker who engineered the deal through which the County acquires the splendid property, has suggested that a channel should be dredged, if feasible, through the reef and the headquarters of the Hawaii Yacht Club be established on the shore, opposite the public park, thus joining attractions. The idea is received with enthusiasm and the matter of dredging the channel will be investigated.

Supervisors Adams and Lucas constitute the committee appointed by the Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon to call on Harry Lewis in regard to what arrangements are to be made in reference to his agreement with Broker Thielen that he, Lewis, should remain a year, rent free, on the old Kunsat place.

Messrs. Lucas and Adams expect to call on Mr. Lewis this afternoon. It is possible that a special meeting of the Supervisors be called tomorrow to consummate the purchase of the beach property. The next regular meeting of the Board occurs on Tuesday, however, and the completion of the business may be deferred until then.

Kauai's Possible Delegate

Augustus F. Knudsen, brother of Speaker of the House of Representatives Eric A. Knudsen, both of Kauai and both at present in this city, is now the man spoken of for the Garden Island's business delegate to Washington in the interests of Hawaii's securing seventy-five per cent of the Federal revenue here.

It is understood that Mr. Augustus Knudsen would be willing to go as his island's representative. No definite word has as yet been received from Kauai. Mr. Augustus Knudsen returns to his home in the Mikahala this evening, providing he can finish certain business in this city in time.

DREDGING CASE NOLLED IN THE POLICE COURT

The case of the Territory versus Chief Engineer McClatchy of the dredger Pacific, charged with malicious mischief, was nolled in the Police Court this afternoon. The trial was the result of pipes from the dredger being laid along Ala Moana street and causing mud puddles in different places.

Attorney General Peters began proceedings. Everything has been settled satisfactorily to both parties, Chester Doyle representing the Attorney General's Department, and as a result the harbor work will continue without further interference from the department.

SMALL BOY WITNESS

Kali, a bright little 9-year-old boy, was a witness for the prosecution in the assault and battery case against Paul Ohelo and Hulimoku before Judge Robinson this afternoon. The little fellow, who is an inmate of the Reform school, qualified as a witness with flying colors. He said that he knew that if he lied the Judge would punish him. Kali saw the two defendants attack a Chinese in Kalihi. A rifle was lying within a few feet of the scene of action. The alert boy picked up the gun and threw it into the lantana, recovering it later.

RAISING THE DEBT

The annual roll call meeting and election of officers was held at the Christian Church last evening. First on the program was dinner at 6 p. m., with a hundred and twelve members and a few friends giving it justice. Mr. Merrill of Rochester, N. Y., offering grace. Following this was a song by the congregation, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Reading of 133d Psalm and prayer by Pastor G. D. Edwards. Song by congregation. Minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Richard Weedon, approved and filed.

Reports of committees. Shortly after the reports of the committees were made the roll call for contributions to cover the church debt was held. The response of the congregation was splendid, a great enthusiasm taking hold of the people. A very liberal sum was realized, which can easily be put at more than a thousand dollars.

Judge De Bolt's jury this afternoon returned a verdict in favor of the defendant in the trespass suit of Tom Gun vs. Thos. McTighe.

CAPT. NIBLACK TO TEST PEARL HARBOR DEPTH

Captain Niblack goes to Pearl harbor tomorrow afternoon on the U. S. S. Froquois to remain until Monday. Sitings from the Oahu and Honolulu plantations caused by irrigation are believed to have drifted into the harbor and Captain Niblack will test the lock to determine whether any shoals have formed.

The upper channel between Dr. McGrew's place and Ford Island is also to be measured as well as a number of other parts of the harbor. There are a number of high places in the harbor bottom and at each of these tests will be made to find out whether they are filling in or remaining stationary.

EAGLES INSTALL

Officers for the ensuing year were installed by the Eagles in Harmony hall last evening and a most enjoyable smoker followed. Good cheer was abundant and merriment continued until a late hour. Messrs. Place, Auerbach, Wilkes, Earle and others of the National Stock Company, Buhler's famous players, delighted with song and anecdote and talented members of the order contributed most pleasing entertainment.

The officers installed were: S. McKeague, worthy president; L. E. Toomey, worthy vice president; Wm. McCoy, worthy chaplain; H. T. Moore, secretary; W. W. Carlyle, treasurer; Harold Hanson, worthy conductor; D. Hurst, inside guardian; T. W. Carroll, outside guardian; C. E. Camp, physician; trustees, T. A. Simpson, D. H. Lewis, M. Rosenberg.

E. T. Herrick made a splendid presiding officer.

PROSSER SUCCEEDS AS ANGEL OF PEACE

Attorney General Peters has received advice by wireless from Kona stating that the trouble regarding the Holua school premises, which Mrs. Mary Atcherly took in possession, is over, and that school was to be held as usual today.

Deputy Attorney General Prosser, who sent to Kona to act as an angel of peace, seems to have met with great success in this role. It appears that Prosser, instead of invoking more trouble by putting up a hostile front, gave a hand at which all the troubles were dissolved in the greatest spirit of friendliness.

Tom (at the reception): "That young widow is acting rather kitchy tonight." Jack: "No wonder. She spent the summer in the Catskill mountains."—Chicago Daily News.
